

Installation of a Sonford Sampler requires the plumbing of the sample line to the back of the Sonford Sampler, compressed air to be run to the cylinder arms and an electrical connection to the control panel. Placing the ball valve below the inlet of the reservoir ensures that a smooth, linear flow arrives to the sampling area. Detailed instructions are supplied with every sampler to ensure a trouble free installation. Should any issues arise, our knowledgeable staff is always on hand to lend assistance.